

🌟 Poha – The Heartwarming Breakfast

🔥 Introduction

Poha — a humble dish made from flattened rice — is not just breakfast, it's a feeling that connects hearts across India. Every morning begins with the irresistible aroma of jeera, kari patta, and freshly chopped onions sizzling in hot oil. Served with a dash of lemon and crispy sev, this golden delight reflects the soul of Indian warmth and simplicity.

🥗 Ingredients (Serves 2)

- 2 cups thick Poha (flattened rice)
 - 1 medium onion, finely chopped
 - 1 medium potato, diced (optional)
 - 1 green chilli, slit
 - 8–10 curry leaves
 - 1 tsp mustard seeds (rai)
 - 1 tsp cumin seeds (jeera)
 - ¼ tsp turmeric powder
 - 1 tbsp peanuts
 - Salt as per taste
 - 1 tbsp oil or ghee
 - Fresh coriander leaves, chopped
 - Lemon wedges
 - Sev (for garnish)
-

Method of Preparation

1. Rinse & Rest:

Gently rinse the poha in water and let it rest in a sieve for 5–7 minutes until soft but not mushy.

2. The Fragrant Tadka:

In a pan, heat oil. Add mustard seeds, cumin seeds, and let them crackle. Toss in curry leaves, green chilli, and peanuts — fry until golden.

3. The Heart of the Dish:

Add chopped onions and sauté until translucent.
(Optional: Add diced potatoes and cook until tender.)

4. Golden Glow:

Sprinkle turmeric powder and salt, then mix the softened poha. Stir gently on low flame so every grain gets coated in sunshine yellow.

5. Final Touch:

Turn off the heat, sprinkle lemon juice, garnish with coriander and sev.

A Taste of India

Every bite of Poha tells a story — of early morning streets filled with laughter, of small chai stalls serving warmth, and of homes where love is cooked before breakfast.

Enjoy it with a cup of steaming adrak wali chai, and let the day begin with Indian joy and simplicity.

Serving Tip

Serve the Poha warm, garnished with sev, fresh coriander, and a slice of lemon. For an authentic Indian touch, enjoy it on a steel plate with a small glass of jalebi on the side — the classic Poha-Jalebi combo that every Indian heart knows and loves!
